

CMCS Website Account Information

The Basics

All CMCS members that include a valid email address on their CMCS Membership Application/renewal form get a default account on the CMCS website, www.CorvetteMarqueClub.com, automatically created when you are added as a member in the official CMCS Membership Database.

Your account userID is email 1 as shown on your membership application form. We upload key fields from the database to the website on an “as needed” basis to automatically set up your account. No action is required on your part for this step.

On the upload, you receive an automatically generated email informing you of the account. It includes a temporary password that you use to log on to the site, change to a password of your choice, and to make other settings per your preferences.

The Membership List

You are also added to a Membership List on the site, available only to current members that are logged in.

Only your name(s) are listed on the membership list. No personal information is available on the site, not even your email address. This protects your privacy, which CMCS takes very seriously. The list does include a request contact function, which allows you to send a blind email to another member on the list. That member then chooses to share with you as they prefer. Your entry on the list also has a Request Change function, allowing you to easily send an email to Membership@CorvetteMarqueClub.com to make changes to your information of record in the club database.

From your profile, you may also add a photo to your name in the membership list.

All-Member Email

By default, all accounts have an all-member email function turned on. These can be sent only by authorized club trustees within strict guidelines. The primary purpose is to notify club members of last-minute events or changes to schedules, event cancellations or other issues impacting club operations, such as weather, that cannot be transmitted in a timely manner through normal club communications.

You do not need to activate your account (log in) to receive these emails.

If you do not wish to receive these emails, you can log in and deactivate the function. (Not recommended)

Dual Accounts

If your partner, as recorded in the CMCS database, maintains a separate email account, and wishes their own account on the CMCS site for that email, just send a request to Membership@CorvetteMarqueClub.com requesting a Dual Account. Their email must be in the database as email 2. The email must be valid and active. We then set a flag in the database, which generates the 2nd account on the next upload to the site. This then allows both to receive the all-member emails and perform other account functions independently.

Alerts

The website also sends notifications by email of changes to the site, such as the addition of a new newsletter, if you choose to receive them by making selections in your profile on the site. You must be logged in to do this. Alerts are OFF by default.

For full information on Alerts, see the FAQ section of the site.
